Main Particulars

THE PROPERTY

Bought by the current owners in 2007 the property was built in 1970 to the original owner and her architects design. The house and garden have been reimagined, updated, extended and transformed in the last 19 years to provide the stylish, much-loved, beautiful home it is now.

Located on The Saltings in the charming village of Lelant - this fabulous quiet position is considered to be much sought after, with views from the reverse level accommodation looking out over the St Ives Bay Line, to the estuary, the RSPB reserve and beyond.

This striking-looking home has an open plan living dining room kitchen on the first floor, opening out to the extensive balcony which is large enough to dine, lounge and sit to taking in the views at any time of day. The house is South East facing, with the four principal external seating areas around the house designed to take in the sun as it moves around the property, with the terrace at the bottom of the front garden being the 'last glass of wine of the day' spot.

There is a primary suite, a harmonious bedroom with French doors & a Juliette balcony, with a feature canopy, floor to ceiling sliding wall wardrobe, ensuite shower room and fully fitted dressing room. There is also a separate WC on the first floor.

On the ground floor there are three double bedrooms, one of which would make an excellent second reception or downstairs living space. There is an indulgent family bathroom/wetroom, a fully fitted utility, multiple storage cupboards, WC and boiler room.

The garden is the current owners pride and joy and has been open several times for the Lelant Secret Gardens - you may have even seen it in the press! It needs to be seen as no words will do it justice!

The large detached garage/workshop is approached via the porcelain tiled generous driveway and has a 'green' roof, tiled floor, bank of storage units & worktop, wall mounted TV, mezzanine storage area and would make an excellent studio/workshop/games room.

All in all this house needs to be seen to be appreciated - these details are just to give you a hint of what it has to offer.

THE ACCOMMODATION

ENTRANCE HALL

Slate clad walls, cedar panelled downlit ceiling and a luxurious wool carpet welcome you in.

The glazed and etched front door lets in lots of light and there is a window to the side looking out to the front patio.

Feature tall radiator.

This room would also make an excellent office or cot room.

GARAGE/WORSHOP 5.80m X 4.0m

This was a labour of love - built by the current owner. Clad in Eternit boards, with a sedum (green/living roof) it has an electric roller shutter door, personnel door and window to the side aspect. There is a bank of kitchen units, larder and base, with a worktop, splashback and wall mounted TV above for sports (app or watching) music, movies or whatever you fancy - it would make a great office/games room/studio or party space. The floor is ceramic tiled and there is a mezzanine storage area. Power and light connected.

GARDEN

Designed and landscaped by the current owners with specimen plants and trees to suit its microclimate the garden is a delight Enclosed by mature Griselinia hedging on two sides with Hornbeam on the other two it gives a real feeling of sanctuary. There are three distinct and separate seating areas, giving you room to move around the garden to enjoy (or stay out of) the sun. The front patio, close to the house for gardening days cups of tea and maybe a bit of lunch, the lower terrace is for the last of the sun and a glass of wine, whilst the terrace to the back garden is an ideal al fresco dining spot and was also built with, perhaps, a hot tub in mind.

The other important things to note - there is an EV point, two outside taps, lighting to the driveway, lighting under the canopy to the front of the house and over the door to the rear.

There is a discreet area to the rear left hand corner of the back garden screened by Griselinia hedging where the 1230 Litre bunded oil storage tank has its home (Installed March 2020).
